Provide a detailed written statement that includes a precise description of the proposed project. Describe how an award will have an impact on you and the project. In this statement consider responding to these questions:

"Why this project? Why you? Why now?"

This project, Shuswap Lake Tales, originated from another project I did on historical buildings in Notch Hill which then led me to consider the underlying history of the Secwépemc nation and the social history of this place. As a newcomer to this area the latent history fascinated me. I decided to have a more indepth look at the colonial of the communities around Shuswap Lake which has a shoreline circumference of over 1,000 kms. How does the history taught in schools differ with the communicative memories of these communities? My focus turned to the latent history of the early homesteaders and settlers. I collaborated with three descendants of the original homesteaders who provided me with stories and archival images to use in my project. A further collaboration was with a fellow student who created the frontispiece (an aerial view painting of the lake) for my book. The images in my project follow the shoreline route I took to explore the lake (by road and boat). The landscape and communities are so different from my native South Africa. The work takes on the form of an ongoing conversation between the original homesteaders, their descendants, myself and ultimately the future reader of this work. Our memories and individual histories are built up in layers. So too is the landscape. It is important in this era, where emphasis seems to be in tearing down statutes and erasing the past, that we actually take time to look beyond the depth of institutionalised collective histories and discover those stories that didn't make it into the history books, especially in rural communities.

Does this project demonstrate alignment with and commitment to some or all of these BC Arts Council strategic directions: Indigenous Arts and Culture; Equity, Diversity, and Access, Regional Arts? If yes, please explain.

Yes. It is located in a regional area outside of the Greater Vancouver area, namely Regional Arts. It will raise awareness and support of photographic art in the small interior community of Blind Bay and surrounding Shuswap areas.

- Improve outreach and communication efforts across the province to increase our understanding of regionally-distinct arts practices and raise program awareness and accessibility.
- Increase support for professional arts in non-urban areas, acknowledging the unique and diverse characteristics of regional arts.
- Increase support for community arts throughout B.C., recognizing their importance in developing and celebrating vibrant communities.
- Support organizations and artists across the province

Ethical Approaches in my Practice

While my project does not involve working with individuals or communities that have been historically underserved, I have respected the individuals that I collaborated with. I compiled a consent form to cover the ethical considerations of my project for the usage of the interviewees' archival images and audio recordings. Each form was accompanied by a contact sheet of the images scanned for the project with a Yes/No tick box next to each image. Theses were sent to each interviewee for their individual sign off. See Appendix D.

Budget

See attached spreadsheet (Appendix A)

Support Material

Marketing Strategy

I plan on building a marketing campaign based on snippets of the stories that were shared by my interviewees, together with images. I will disseminate this information and announcements of the virtual exhibition through Instagram (mainly an international following) and Facebook (local following). I will also make use of the local arts council's newsletter to distribute information. Having an article in the local newspaper should also help. I plan on including the local galleries within a 3-hour drive radius.
